IT'S NOT THE SENSUOUS CURVES, THE BLINGY BITS, OR THE SHEER AMOUNT OF TECHNOLOGY THAT MAKES THIS BIKE SO ALLURING—IT'S THE RIDE, MY FRIEND, THE RIDE

Ibis Mojo Carbon SX

What you're gawking at could be the last mountain bike you'll ever own—and need. The heart of the Mojo is its svelte, 5.5-pound carbon fiber frame. This work of art is matched to a suspension system that guarantees the perfect blend of shock absorption, pedaling efficiency and traction. What this means is that the Mojo is light enough to pedal uphill, responsive through turns, and gives a La-Z boy-like ride when the going gets rough. The only catch? You, sir, are the engine.
